DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species I: a cylindrical target having at its end a grooved outside circumferential surface; an interface ring having a circumferential inner surface adapted to engage with said grooved outside circumferential surface (Specification, p. 3, lines 19-24)

Species II: a cylindrical target having at its end a grooved inside circumferential surface; an interface ring having a circumferential outer surface adapted to engage with said grooved inside circumferential surface (Specification, p. 4, lines 9-13)

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

2. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species I: claims 1, 3, and 5-15

Species II: claims 2, 4, and 16-19

The following claim(s) are generic: none

3. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The common technical feature unifying species I-II is a coupling system to releasably affix a cylindrical target to a spindle, comprising a spindle terminating in a flange portion; a cylindrical target having at its end a grooved outside circumferential surface; an interface ring having a circumferential inner surface adapted to engage with said grooved outside circumferential surface of said cylindrical target; a clamping ring adapted to engage at its one side with said flange portion and to engage radially at its other side with said interface ring to hold the cylindrical target to the spindle; one or more sealing rings between said spindle and said cylindrical target. These features are well known in the art and are disclosed in the prior art documents such as EP 1106893 (fig. 3; col. 6, lines 53-56; col. 7, lines 1-11). Hence there are no special technical features and therefore unity is lacking.

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
